ANOTHER CROSSING SLAUGHTER.

Four Killed and Several May Die from Injuries in a Street-Car Collision.

CHICAGO, July 17 .- An incoming passenger train, on the Grand Trunk road, ran down a crowded street car to-night, killing four people and injuring a number of others. The dead are:

JENNIE BLAKELY, head and shoulders cut. The collision occurred at the Forty-ninthstreet crossing, which is a network of tracks, and has always been regarded as dangerous. A long freight train going west had just passed, and the tower man, George Barnett, had raised the gates. This was taken as a signal that the way was clear, and driver Statenecker started to drive across the tracks. The passenger train was rapidly coming from the west, however, and just as the car reached the track it struck it squarely in the center. The car was turned entirely around and hurled fully thirty feet from the point where it was struck. Some of the passengers managed to save themselves by jumping, but the majority were caught. Perkins and Dillon were frightfully mangled, A piece of timber had been forced into the latter's throat, breaking his jaw. The two women killed were unknown to any of the passengers of the car, and there was nothing on them to give a clew to their identity. The police arrested engineer Jones, fireman Campbell, of the passenger train, and a man named Henry Huges, who was riding in the cab of the engine. The engineer said that he did not see the street car until It was on the track and so close that it was impossible for him to stop the train. The towerman, George Barnell, who raised the gates and allowed the car to come upon the track, said: "I raised the gates after the freight train had gone west and did not see the approaching passenger train until it was close upon the crossing. I lowered the gates, but it was too late then.

TRIALS OF A CONSUL-GENERAL

Editor Morss's Predecessor Talks About French Anarchists and the Paris Riots.

NEW YORK, July 17 .- Gen. Adam E. King, who was consul-general to Paris until the appointment of his successor, Samuel E Morse, of Indianapolie, has returned to this country to remain till this fall, when he will go to Paris for the winter. He reached here on the steamship La Toursine Saturday. Among other things which Gen. King talked about was the pardoning of the Chicago Anarchists by Governor Altgeld, of Illinois. "I think that it was an outrageous piece of business that cannot be too severely condemned or too strongly,"

"The Anarchists of Paris approve the action of the government, of course. The Anarchists of that city keep a close watch on things of that sort. They frequently sent threatening letters to me. Some of the letters contained threats to blow up with dynamite the house in which I was living. Then I received other letters meraly telling me that it was about time for me to leave the city. Often the letters would be couched in the low street slang, and frequently the language used would be of the most indecent character. These letters came in the greatest numbers about the time of the execution of Rayachol. I have preserved some of the letters, and I think that they make an interesting souvenir of my experiences abroad. The only motive that I could ever see for being made the target of this thing was that I was American consul, and in this country some Anarchists had been hanged.

"When the recent Paris riots began, they did not amount to much. Later the street rowdies, the Anarchists and the other classes of people who are always anxious to make a disturbance, took it up. The presence of the military had a remarkable effect in quelling the disturbance. The commercial and industrial condition of France is prosperous. While the drouth ruined the hay, wheat and oats crops, it was just the sort of weather for grape vines, and the wine product this year will be large. France is not paying much attention to our silver discussion and I do not hear of many Frenchmen who are coming to the world's fair. There is no cholera scare in France

The Captured Evangelist Who Eloped from Kansas Not Anxicus to Return.

KANSAS CITY, July 17 .- Evangelist L. Vernon, who is wanted at Pittsburg, Kan., on account of an elopement, and at Joplin. Mo., for divers offenses, passed through Kansas City last evening in the custody of a deputy sheriff, on his way back to Pittsburg. With Vernon came the woman with whom he eloped, Mrs. Pearson, Vernon, while on the train on his way to this city, attemped to escape by jumping from the car while the train was running forty miles an hour, and he and the officer, who promptly followed his prisoner, were considerably the worse for the attempt. " Both were injured and had to be cared for at the police station in Kansas City, Kan. It was while Vernon was holding gospel meetings at Pittsburg that he and Mrs. Pearson became acquainted. He left a wife and four children and Mrs. Pearson a husband and child 1: Joplin, Mo. The news of his capture has Ilmost set the town of Pittsburg on fire with excitement. One Phase of the Money Question That Puzzies the New York Bunkers.

HOARDING THE GOLD.

NEW YORK, July 17 .- Much curiosity has been shown in banking circles us to the cause of the treasury officials voluntarily paying out gold in settlement of clearinghouse balances and for government checks over the counter, when some form of currency would have been more desirable to the payee, Conrad N. Jordan, assistant United States treasurer in this city, was questioned about this to-day and asked for an explanation, especially since it had been supposed that the government was desirous of building up the gold reserve again to the $100,000,000 limit, Mr. Jordan declined to give any reason for the treasury paying out gold, as stated, but suggested that it might be interred to be due to a desire to provide for some need for a supply of currency at no distant date. He scouted the suggestion, however, that has been made that it was because the government did not wish to issue any more gold certificates, which it must do as soon as the gold reserve is $100,000,000, the theory of the suggestion being that gold is more readily hoarded in that form, the government storing it free of cost. From another source, it was learned that the government has been paying out gold because it feared that, unless it made provision in time, it would be unable to supply the demands for currency that it expects may be made in a short time for moving the crops. Leaving out the $5,000,000 in green backs which the government requires to keep on hand for redemption purposes, the United States treasury only has about $15,000,000 of greenbacks (legal-tender notes) available, counting the supplies at all the subtreasuries. If, as has been supposed, the great scarcity of currency has been caused by the precautionary measures taken by banks throughout the country to fortify themselves during the recent stringency, and the currency is in the vaults of those country banks, then there will not be a very great demand on the treasury for currency to move the crops; but if, as has also been suggested, the missing currency is not locked up in the country banks, but is hoarded by the people, then the United States treasury expects to have all it can do to supply the demand on it for currency during the next few weeks. Such, at any rate, is the explanation of a responsible person for the treasury paving out gold instead of currency to the New York banks. The question whether the country banks or the people have been hoarding the ourrency can be told when a comparison is made of the reports to the Controller last week with their reports six months ago. A Very Smooth Trick. WASHINGTON, July 17 .- Heavy clearinghouse payments in New York caused the gold reserve to fall lower than it has been for several days past, and $346,886 less than it was on Saturday. The reserve to-day amounts to $98,059,480; currency balances, $26,117,918. The Star this evening gives publicity to the following statement in regard to the gold payments from the United States subtreasury in New York: Considerable effort is being made by financial agents here to discover the motive behind these payments. But the department is as close-mouthed as a clam. The explanation, got through private sources, is that the department is trying to take advantage of the scarcity of small and convenient currency for internal business to pinch the banks as the banks have pinched the government by storing gold. The banks are greatly in need of small bills for ourrent business transactions and for use in the agricultural districts. The theory is advanced that if they cannot get what they need of this sort of currency by any other means, they will have to make terms with the treasury, which will involve their exchanging gold or gold certificates in large quantities for notes and certificates of small denominations. It is said the department can afford to pay out gold on the drafts presented by the banks if, by so doing, they can cut off the source through which the banks would get their small notes and put them to sufficient inconvenience to bring them to terms. The banks understand that if they want small notes and certificates they can secure them by taking large quantities and paying for them in gold, and it is the theory of the department that by pinching them pretty close they can be forced to do this. It is very probable that the issue of gold certificates will not be resumed if the gold reserve gets above a hundred millions, as it is not clear that the law is mandatory in requiring a renewal of this issue after it has been stopped by reason of the reserve falling below a hundred millions.

"ELASTICITY" BYNUM,

The Hoosier Grass Burner Can Place His Finger on the Banking Evil, Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

WASHINGTON, July 17 .- "After having repealed the silver-purchasing clause of the Sherman bill," said Congressman Bynum to-day, "I think Congress will proceed to consider changes in the national banking laws. I do not believe that the State banks will be reorganized; that day has passed. But I think that the national banking laws could be altered so as to give more elasticity to our circulation. This could be done by eliminating the necessity of banks depositing only government security and permitting them to deposit State, county or municipal bonds as security. The government would of course, only accept first-class bonds of this character, but there would be no danger of any State or county repudiating its obligations at this day. The real evil of our present financial system is its lack of elasticity. It is seen in New York now. Within the past few days it has been necessary for the New York Clearing-house Association to issue certificates. If the New York banks had been permitted to deposit such State or municipal bonds as they might have had and obtained currency for them they would have been able to increase the volume of currency by just that amount and relieve the situation.

WHITE HOUSE DECORATION.

New Arrangement of the Apartments for President C'eveland's Family.

WASHINGTON, July 17 .- The absence of the President and his family at Buzzard's Bay is being taken advantage of to thoroughly renovate the White House and to make some domestic changes in the arrangement of the interior. President and Mrs. Cleveland's sleeping room will be, in the future, the chamber on the north side of the house, a favorite room with them before, and the same room used by President Arthur in his day. The smaller room at the corner was used before by Mrs. Cleveland as her boudoir, and it has again been arranged for the same purpose. These two rooms were the nursery during the last administration, and were entirely dismantled after the sickness of little Marthena Harrison. Both are now decorated according to Mrs. Cleveland's taste. The President's led chamber is now a red rison's old bedroom, known as the Prince of Wales's room, is to be set apart for the use of the President's daughter, Ruth, and her nurse. The other rooms on the south side of the mansion are reserved for visstors. On the parior floor the Red Room is being prepared for an entirely new decoration from floor to ceiling. The artist who is to decorate the ceiling is beginning to put on the ground color. This room will continue to be a red room. There are so many large pictures | steamer Carona for Santa Barbara yester-

property and the second of the factor of the will serve as a rich background. The ceiling will be a study in red, plentifully flecked over with gilt. All the old woodwork has been taken out, and mahogany moldings will be substituted to match the very fine mantelpiece, which has been the most elegant thing ever in the room. Portraits of President Cleveland and President Arthur will always hang in this room. The public stairway at the east side of the parlor never looked shabbier than it has lately. The army that passed over it since March has left indelible marks. The staircase has been painted and varnished, and begins to make a very much better appear-

Work for the "Alliance,"

WASHINGTON, July 17 .- Telegraph orders have been sent to Commander Whiting, commanding the United States steamship Alliance at Callao, Peru, to proceed at once with that vessel to Corinto, the port nearest to Leon, where the latest revolution is at its height. Commander Whiting is instructed to simply use all possible dispatch, and to protect American interests there. It will take at least a week to make the trip. The Charleston and the Yorktown, now fiting out for service on the Pacific station, will be ready to start in a few days. It is probable that one of them will be ordered to touch at Greytown, on the east coast, on the way down, in order to inspect the situation with a view to future action.

Secretary Herbert on the Briny Deep. WASHINGTON, July 17 .- Secretary Herbert, accompanied by Miss Herbert and his naval aid, Ensign Wood, left here to-day, on the President's yacht Dolphin, for a visit to the naval stations at New York, Newport, New London, Boston and Portsmouth, N. H. They will also make a visit to Lachias, Me., to enable the Secretary to be present at the presentation by the citizens of that place of a silver service to the stanch little gunboat named in its honor. The party will be gone about three weeks.

The President Carried Off by Commodore Benedict on the Yacht Oneids.

BUZZARD BAY, July 17 .- President Cleveland has not yet gone to New York, as was supposed when he sailed on the yacht Oneida, this forenoon, in company with Commodore Benedict and Dr. Bryant. It is authoritatively stated here this evening that the party has gone on a short cruise and fishing excursion, to be absent from here about two days. It is not generally known in what locality the party will cast lines. but it is reported that a part of the time may be spent in the vicinity of Block island. When the President left to-day he appeared in the best of health, and he has no lameness whatever. Neither has Dr. Bryant returned to New York, but on the other hand. will accompany the President back to Gray Gables, where he will probably remain through the month of July. Mrs. Cleveland, in company with her daughter and maid, drove over here for the mail to-

A dispatch from Newport says: President Cieveland arrived here about 7 o'clock this evening. The Oneida anchored in the harbor, and no one but the steward has been ashore. Few knew of the President being in this locality. He apparently does not desire any demonstration, hence the anchorage in the out-of-the-way place, instead of with other yachts in the inner harbor. It is expected that to-morrow an early start will be made for the westward. where fishing will be resumed. During the evening the electric search lights at the torpedo station and upon the yachte in the harbor gave an exhibition of their powers. It was witnessed by the President, though the operators were not aware of the fact.

'TWIXT HEAVEN AND EARTH.

What Happened to a Young Man in the South Who Set a Trap for a Coon.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 17 .- An evening paper prints the following singular story: A young man near Shubuta, Miss., named Charles Hardeman had been troubled a great deal by the coons raiding his corn field, and not having a steel tray, young Hardeman improvised a snare by bending down a tall sapling and tying a rope to the top of it, and by an invention of his own. fastened the rope by a noose to a trigger near the ground. He sawed off the top of the sapling so that when the coon pulled the ear of corn off the trigger the fastening would be released and the spring of the tree would jerk Mr. Coon high into the air. While the young man was adjusting the bast on the trigger he accidentally sprung it and the noose caught his arm and he was jerked off the ground just high enough to keep his feet from touching, and all efforts to release himself proved fruitless, and he remained there suspended in midair by the arm for three days before he was discovered. He was taken down and medical aid summoned, and he will recover, but it is thought he will lose the use of his arm.

FRANCE IS IN EARNEST.

Will Not Interfere with Slamese Independeuce, but May Bombard Bangkok. Paris, July 17 .- A semi-official note is published to-day, denying the assertion that France has disavowed to the Siamese government the action of Admiral Humanu in causing gunboats to ascend the Menam river, and that the commanders of the gunboats Comete and Inconstante had exceeded their instructions in firing on the forts at Paknam. A council of Ministers has been held to decide on the replies to be made to the interpellations of Deputies Callille, Dreyfus and François Deloncie. The Ministers resolved to disavow in the Chamber any intention to interfere with Siamese independence. At the same time they decided to insist that the treaties between France and Siam be respected, and no intervention should be tolerated. In case it should become necessary to bombard Bangkok warning should be given to foreign powers, so as to enable them to protect their subjects in that city. In case Siam should decline to give complete satisfaction for her offenses against France's treaty rights the Mekong river should be blockaded. M. De Lanessan, Governor-general of French China, telegraphs to the Foreign Office that a detachment of Siamese troops attacked a reconnectering force of Annamite militia, on July 5, at Anake. The Siamese were repulsed with great loss. One of the Annamites was killed. The people everywhere in the Laos district, which lies to the northward of Siam, according to the dispatch, are siding with the French.

A body of French marines have captured the forts at Donthane and Tapham on the upper Mekong. The French loss in the assaults was six killed or wounded. The Siamese lost heavily in both engagements.

England Wants a Finger in the Pie. LONDON, July 17 .- The Earl of Rosebery, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, replying to a question asked by Lord Lamington in the House of Lords to-day, said that the government was not in full posse'ssion of the facts regarding the dispute between France and Siam, but that Great Britain was fully alive to the responsibility attaching to her and would not lose any opportunities of obtaining a satisfactory solution of the matters at issue, In the House of Commons, Sir Edward, Grey, Parliamentary Secretary of the Foreign Office, made extended reference to the announced intention of the Hon. George N. Curson, to move the adjournment of the House in order to discuss the situation in Siam. Sir Edward appealed to the House not to discuss the matter until further information should have been received. The government was fully alive to the need of securing the safety of British interests in Siam, and if more war ships were required at Bangkok, or elsewhere in Siamese waters, they would be promptly dispatched. Sir Edward further said that France had informed the British government that the French gunboat should not ascend the Menam river without instructions to do so. but that the commanders of the war ships had been provoked to this action by the Siamese. When Sir Edward fintshed Mr. Curson said that, in view of the statement made by the representative of the government, he would abandon his intention to move that the House adjourn.

Slam Wants Peace. BANGKOK, July 17 .- The government of Siam has consented to withdraw the troops in the Mekong valley, provided that France agrees also to suspend hostilities.

PRINCE OF WALES IN AN ACCIDENT. His Hausom Cab Dashes Into Another in St. James Street. LONDON, July 17 .- The Prince of Wales met with an accident this evening which. while it had no serious result, gave him a bad shaking up. While the Prince was riding in his private hansom cab through St. James street a vehicle that was debouching from Kings street caused the Prince's driver to swerve sharply in order to avoid a collision with it. The Prince's carriage was being driven at a fair rate of speed, and in swinging out of the way of the vehicle turning the corner it smashed into another hansom cab that was standing in the carriage rank awaiting a customer. The shock of the collision was so violent that the Prince's horse fell, and the Prince himself was dashed against the side of his hansom. He was not at all seriously injured. He alighted from his cab and walked the remainder of the distance to Mariborough House, his London residence.

OBITUARY.

Rev. Father Thomas E. Walsh, President of

Notre Dame University. SOUTH BEND, Ind., July 17 .- Thomas E. Walsh, president of the University of Notre Dame, died at Milwankee to-day, where he had been under treatment for Bright's disease. The funeral will be held here Wednesday morning. The disease which caused his death battled the physicians. It first developed in the latter months of last year in the form of a bronchial catarrh, and by the breaking away of winter had seriously affected his vital organs. Some of the physicians diagnosed the trouble as beart disease; others as Bright's disease. At the time of Bishop Dwenger's death in the spring President Walsh was prominently mentioned as the one likely to be his successor. Two or three days after commencement President Walsh, accompanied by Professor Edwards, went to Wankesha to try the waters there, upon the supposition that the trouble was lodged in the kidneys. But he rapidly grew worse, and Father Corby, of Milwaukee, had him brought to the hospital at Milwaukee, where he lingered for three weeks. He was a member of the order of the Holy

Favors Free Silver Coinage. To the Editor of the Indianapolis Journal

I have been a reader of the Journal for many years, and have regarded it an able journal, but this silver question is one I do not see as you do.

First-Gold and silver have been the money of all nations, and the value of each kept in about the same relation to each other since the time of Abraham. You will find in Genesis, Chapter 13, that Abraham was rich in cattle, gold and silver, and that he purchased of Ephon a field for four hundred skekels of silver. Current money with the merchant Second-Gold and silver have been the metals used by all nations since as money. and no nation has ever had a single standard, the silver being the money of the poor people, and there has never been a corner made with it or against it. Third-Our own silver from our own mines should be coined into dollars, halves, quarters and ten-cent pieces, and made a legal tender in payment of all dues to the United States and a legal tender in the payment of all debts Fourth-And gold from our mines should be comed into money and be a legal tender for all dues to the United States, and a legal tender in payment of all debts. Fifth-At least four out of five voters of Grant county are for free silver as named in No. 3 and in the way named. Sixth-The Republican party has no friends on Wall street, New lork. The rich bankers and great men of that city love money more than the Republican party, or the Democratic party either. JAMES BROWNLEE. Marion, Ind., July 14.

A Want of Confidence, To the Editor of the Indianapolis Journal:

The late General Ekin used to tell a story on one of his preachers, a United Presbyterian, that is not wholly irrelevant to business men and manufacturers to-day. A few months after the inauguration of Mr. Johnson as President, who had started out to make treason odious by relegating to back seats all copperheads, but who had begun to weaken in his scheme much to the regret of men who had been soldiers. General Ekin's office was then in Washington. One day a preacher who had been on Christian Commission duty in the Army of the Poto mac called on the General before leaving for home. After a short conversation, the General remarked: "I wish you would see Brother Fulton, at the soldiers' hospital. He is very low and can hardly recover. He would be pleased to see you, and he may have some message to send to his family through you." The preacher promised to call, and to return afterward and report to the General the condition of the sick man. An hour or two later he returned, looking anything but sad. answer to the question how he found Brother Fuller, he said: "He's not going to die. He is not ready to die yet." The latter statement surprised General

Ekin, who replied: "Why, how is that? He is certainly one of our best men. If he is not prepared to die, who is?" "Oh, he is good enough, if that were all, but he is entirely too anxious about the things of this world for a dying men. He was very giad to see me. We conversed freely. He is too weak to speak above his breath. He sent tender messages to his family. I read a por-
